

Summary of Web Design Qualifications

I have 10+ years experience in web design and maintenance, information organization and retrieval, and technology training. I also have a B.F.A. in Studio Art from Ohio University.

In 1997, I completed coursework in web design from the University of South Carolina and taught workshops in web design for the School of Library & Information Science and the SC Literacy Center. In 1998, I created an online directory of artists for the SC State Arts Commission and graduated from USC with a Master's degree in Library & Information Science.

From 1999 through 2002, I served as a web master, electronic resources librarian, and distance education services coordinator for the Reference Department of the University Libraries at the University of South Carolina. While at USC, I created a directory of online resources and an online research tutorial for the University Libraries that is still being used today.

From 2002 through 2006 I was a Technology Education Specialist for Richland School District One in Columbia, SC, where I served as the web master and data manager for the Instructional Technology Services Department. I was also the coordinator, lead trainer, and site manager for the District's web-based communication system. This system provided web pages for 50 schools, approximately 50 district departments, 5000 teacher web pages and email accounts, and 25,000 student email accounts. While with Richland One, I created numerous online teaching modules and an interactive teacher technology proficiency monitoring database that are still also in use.

Since moving to Bakersville, NC in 2006 and starting my own design business, Hedgerow Arts, I have developed a long list of local clients. Here is a listing of current websites I have designed and/or maintain:
